

Sean Case

Chief of Police

OBJECTIVE

A dedicated and experienced professional with a proven track record in leadership and management. Blending academic training in police community relations and organizational leadership with practical experience in policy and training development. Demonstrates strong strategic planning and decision-making skills with an emphasis on vision, values, leadership culture, and ethics. Driven by a passion to use innovation, compassion, and service to build an environment where officers and the community thrive together. Provides structured policies, training, and internal affairs investigations while maintaining flexibility to adapt to the needs of the public. Possess excellent communication and interpersonal abilities, fostering a positive and productive work environment. Adept at problem-solving and conflict resolution, with a commitment to upholding high standards of performance and efficiency.

EDUCATION

2015-2019 - MPS Psychology of Leadership, Penn State University.

2002-2005 – MA Criminology, Indiana State University.

1994-1998 – BA Justice, University of Alaska, Anchorage

EXPERIENCE

Feb. 2022 - Current

Deputy Chief • Operations/Administration • Anchorage Police Dept.

- Led and directed daily operations and administration functions of the department, overseeing all divisions and command staff. Developed and implemented strategic initiatives, policies, and procedures. Managed budgetary and resource allocation processes to ensure optimal efficiency and performance.

Feb. 2020 - Current

Police Practices Consultant • Contractor • Daigle Law Group

- Engaged as a consultant to provide expert guidance on police practices, policy development, and training oversight.

Dec. 2015 – Feb. 2022

Captain • Inspections/Patrol/Admin • Anchorage Police Dept.

- Oversaw the Inspection Division, ensuring compliance with regulations and standards. Oversaw the Patrol Division, ensuring consistent and fair service with an emphasis on proactive positive contacts with the community. Oversaw the Administration Division, ensuring the professional staff was fully integrated into the department and valued as the provided critical roles in pursuit of the mission.

KEY SKILLS —

Leadership

Strategic Planning

Budget Management

Team Collaboration

Policy Development

Crisis Management

April 2015 – Dec. 2015

Lieutenant • Patrol/Internal Affairs • Anchorage Police Dept.

- Served as a patrol shift commander emphasizing training, proactive police work, and employee recognition. Lead Internal Affairs in thorough, well written, and impartial investigations.

July 2011 – April 2015

Sergeant • Patrol/IA/Use of Force • Anchorage Police Dept.

- Patrol shift supervisor, overseeing approximately 25-30 officers. Internal Affairs investigator. Supervised use of force training, policy development, and investigations.

LEADERSHIP

- Appointed by the Governor to the Alaska Criminal Justice Commission
- Governor's Alaska Council on Missing & Murdered Indigenous Persons
- Board member of Victims for Justice
- Board member of Blood Bank of Alaska
- Board member Alaska Association of Chiefs of Police
- Developed alternative interventions to reduce recidivism and victimization.
- Innovation on criminal diversion, culturally specific approaches to rehabilitation, the use of mental health clinicians in policing.

PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATIONS

- National Internal Affairs Investigator Association
- International Association of Chiefs of Police
- Americans for Effective Law Enforcement
- FBI National Academy Association
- Alaska Association of Chiefs of Police

REFERENCES

Available Upon Request